

COLT REVOLVER

Although Samuel Colt was born in Connecticut, he resided in Paterson, New Jersey during the period that he perfected the revolver and the patent was granted in 1836. A demonstration of the revolver for President Van Buren caused carriage horses to bolt, killing the driver and any chance for the gun to be accepted. It wasn't until 1838, during the war in Mexico that the gun was accepted.